The University publishes bulletins twice a month, so numbered that the first two digits of the number show the year of the issue and the last two the position in the yearly series. (For example, No. 6901 is the first publication of the year 1969.) These bulletins comprise the official publications of the University, publications on humanistic and scientific subjects, and the bulletins issued from time to time by various divisions of the University. The following bureaus and divisions distribute publications issued by them; communication concerning publications in these fields should be addressed to The University of Texas, Austin, Texas, care of the Bureau of Economic Geology, Bureau of Engineering Research, Bureau of Public School Service, and Division of Extension. Communications concerning all other publications of the University should be addressed to University Publications. The University of Texas, Austin, 78712.

INTRODUCTION

Sponsors, sports writers, school administrators, coaches and fans have, for many years, expressed a desire for a complete record book on the University Interscholastic League athletic activities.

The original University Interscholastic League Record Book was published in 1953, through the efforts of Orland Sims who was working for The University of Texas Sports Publicity Department. Statistics from 1911 to 1953 were compiled by him.

Last summer, Bob Downtain continued the project. Records have been completed through the 1968-1969 school year. To keep this book up to date, addenda will be issued at the end of each succeeding school year.

Interscholastic League records are not always complete or accurate, especially those in the early years of the League history, since facilities for obtaining accurate reports and recording them were then often insufficient. Due to this lack of communication and also because of human failure, errors may have been made. Therefore, we would appreciate having any one who discovers such an inaccuracy write the League office with a report for verification and correction.

Further, the records in some sports are incomplete. For that reason, we are not able to include district winners in basketball before 1942, although the first League basketball tournament was in 1921. Between 1921 and 1942, no systematic record was made of teams competing before regional winners were determined and certified from the regional to the state tournament.

A brief, historical resume of each sport has been included. We hope these facts will prove useful to sports writers and to League member schools.

We will be grateful for your comments and suggestions. Also, your corrections will be appreciated. Please address any communication to:

FOOTBALL

State football began play to a state championship in the 1920 season (playoff records for which, unhappily, are missing) and has continued in much the same manner since.

There was some confusion during 1922-25 when Conferences A and B merged at the state playoff level. Beginning 1925, Conference A alone played to state, B dropping out at the bi-district level.

Conference B moved up to the regional level beginning 1928, after which the sport stayed more or less stable until 1939, when the whole thing was revamped.

In 1939, Conferences AA, A, and B were set up. Conference AA played to state, A played to regional, and B to bi-district. That was the setup through 1945, but beginning in 1946, Conference B moved up a notch and played to the regional level.

In 1948 there was even more confusion. The City Conference was formed as a separate group, taking several schools out of Conference AA; and Conference A started playing to a state championship.

Finally the newest system got underway in 1951 after the demise of the City Conference. The present method calls for Conferences 4-A, 3-A, 2-A and A to play to a state championship, and Conference B to play to a regional level.

Conference B will play to a state championship beginning in 1972.

Included in the football portion are scores of all bi-district and state playoff matches (where available) for all years, 1921-52.

Six-Man Football

The six-man football program, which is being received enthusiastically at present, had a small-scale beginning in 1938. That year, only six teams were recorded as district winners.

The original plan was for six-man play to stop with the determination of district champions. However, this was changed in 1941 to allow play to bi-district level.

In 1949, the present system was started—that of playing to regional championships. Included in the six-man football section is a record of all district winners reported to the League as well as scores of all bi-district and regional competition.

Six-man football will play to a state championship beginning in 1972.

Eight-Man Football

The Eight-Man Football Program was introduced in 1959 to bridge the gap between the Six-Man and Eleven-Man football schools.

Eight-Man Football played under rules very similar to Eleven-Man Football, except that the teams have three fewer players.

It grew rapidly, in the beginning, but has, like Six-Man Football, been decreasing annually as the smaller schools throughout the state continue to be discontinued or consolidated with larger units.

Eight-man Football will play to a state championship beginning in 1972.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Boys' basketball has had a long and interesting history. The first state championship basketball tournament was held in 1921, with El Paso—a perennial contender through the years that followed—defeating San Antonio in the finals, 25–11.

In 1922, the winner, Lindale, was later disqualified and the championship for that season was given to the runner-up, El Paso.

Consolation play was started in 1924, with an award consolation bracket. This was dropped immediately, and the consolation finals were adopted, where semi-final losers play each other to determine third place. In 1970 the third place playoffs were dropped.

In 1942, basketball was split into conferences AA, A and B. In 1948, a further split was added when the City Conference was set up.

At present, the state tournament consists of twenty teams,—four from each conference: AAAA, AAA, AA, A and B.

This section includes a score rundown of all tournaments, a list of all-tournament and conference records; and the names of district winners in all conferences since 1942.

For the 1969–1970 school year, the State Basketball Tournament will be divided. The first State Tournament will involve the schools in Conferences A, AA and AAA. The following weekend, the schools in Conferences B and AAAA will play to a state championship for each conference.

Roman type indicates district winners. Italics show regional champions. All capital letters show state champions.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

From a small beginning with 300 schools, the Girls' Basketball Program has increased to include the present 766 schools.

During the first three years, only two conferences were included, Conferences AA and A being merged in the regional playoffs and Conference B schools also participating in the State Tournament .

With the growth of the program, State Championships are now played off in Conferences AAA, AA, A and B.

This section includes district winners, state tournament scores, and tournament records.

One of the most recently sponsored activities of the League, the Girls Basketball Championships now attract much interest among the public schools and the public.

Girls' basketball became a League activity in 1951, playing to state titles in Conferences B and A that year.

In 1952, Conferences A and AA were merged at the playoff level, each of which sent four teams to the state tournament.

In 1955, this arrangement was modified whereby each division played separately to a state championship.

No further alterations were made in the organizational structure for girls' basketball until 1965 when Conference AAA was added. As time has passed, many high schools in Texas have added the sport to their athletic programs, and spectator interest has risen sharply.

Included in this section are district winners, state tournament scores, and tournament records.

(* District champion not determined.)

(‡ Regional winner.)

(** Competed in Conference A, 1951.)

(a) Bellville represented District 21 in play-off.

NOTE: Conferences AA and A were combined in regional tournaments. Conference A teams won play-offs in Regions I and V in 1952; and in Regions I, IV and VIII in 1953.

DISTRICT WINNERS

(For the purposes of relative clarity, since 1954 girls' basketball district winners have been recorded in the same form as boys' district winners. Regional champions are italicized, state champions are CAPITALIZED, districts within a region are separated by commas (,) and regions are separated by semi-colons (;).

TRACK AND FIELD

In the following section, we have tried to include all practicable information on track and field:

1. Present meet and conference records.
2. The top three teams in each conference each year, with the actual point scores.
3. Individual high-point scorers.
4. Development of state meet records.
5. Participation in state meets.

This 4th section—development of state meet records—needs a brief comment. The year 1911 is chosen as the beginning date for the records. This was done because it was in 1911 that the “Interscholastic Athletic League” was organized, actually beginning the athletic side of the UIL program. The occasion of the organization, however, was the annual University of Texas invitational track meet for high schools, which had been going on for about six years. Records of the first UIL meet show that some times and distances established as records during the earlier invitational track meets were retained as “State” records—until broken. Therefore, records which were either standing, or were set, in 1911 are included in this section as the first state records. In some cases the earliest record available in a classification is that for 1912.

These are only State Meet records—and do not pretend to be the best time of any year, or the best record for the event ever recorded in the state. These are only the League’s official State Meet records.

Concerning high-point teams and individuals, changes have been made in the system of scoring. At present (since 1946) meets are scored on a 10–8–6–4–2–1 basis, with relays counting 16–10–6–4–2–1. At various times in the past the system was based on 5–3–1 and 5–3–2–1, with relays part of the time counting double, but for most years counting the same as other events. These facts explain the sudden jump, in the meet of 1946, in the total points scored.

The section showing the top three teams in each classification will indicate the various ways in which competition in track and field has been run off. In the section covering development of records, these classifications may prove confusing. League competition began with two classifications—High School and Academy. For obvious reasons the older boys in the latter division had the best times and distances, and the best records were made in the Academy division. For comparative purposes, however, the League has kept, wherever available, the records of the High School division from those early years. For these reasons, there are in many events two “first records.” If the record comes from the Academy division (which was dropped after 1917, and where there were only a handful of academies competing), it is so identified.

The UIL State Meets have produced many great heroes, many outstanding athletes who have gone on to win national and Olympic honors. It is not possible to reflect in this publication the thrilling stories behind the cold statistics.

Only six times have the efforts of one person resulted in all points scored by a winning school. In 1916, Leo George of Buffalo School, Bangs, scored 18 points for the Class B championship. In 1917, M. Lindsey of Timpson scored 22½ points for Class B title. In 1919, it was V. Rabb of Smithville who won Class B singlehandedly, with 15 points. In 1935, the one division State Meet was won singlehandedly by Carl Fitzgerald of Barbers Hill School, Mont Belvieu, with 10 points—as the result of a very even distribution of points among many schools. The same thing happened again in 1936, when Walter Cecil of Freeport took the state title with 15 points. The performance which probably will never again be equalled was that in 1924, when Leo Baldwin accounted for all of Wichita Falls' 23 points to win the top bracket, Class A, championship by himself. Baldwin took four firsts and a second.

The greatest cross-the-board sweep, however, came in the earliest years of League history, when competition was stiff but not so select at the State Meet level. In 1912, before regional eliminations had been organized to insure that only the best competed in the State Meet, any team with the cash could come to Austin to compete. There were, in that year, only about 20 schools, and slightly over 100 competitors, at the State Meet. Beaumont, with 37 points, won in the high school division. The star for that school was Maxson, who won five firsts and two seconds: firsts in the 12-pound hammer throw, and in the 50, 100, 220 and 440 dashes, seconds in the broad jump and shot put, to score 31 points.

You will note that prior to 1925 all times are in even tenths of a second. This is due to the fact that through 1924 stop watches used had calibrations only in fifths of a second. In 1925, watches with calibrations in tenths were used for the first time at the State Meet. For convenience, and to prevent confusion, all earlier fifth-of-a-second readings have been converted to tenths.

One further point. Wherever possible we have given the first name of the record maker or high-point man. In some cases nothing more than the last name can be obtained. In the early days, schools more often than not submitted the names of contestants for the State Meet by surname only. Official programs and records identified the contestants by surname and assigned number. No first names were recorded. This has wiped out the records in many of the home schools; in fact, many of the schools have disappeared.

(*These points are the individual high scoring record for all UIL meets, but the system of scoring has been changed since the early high of 31 points was scored by Maxson of Beaumont. Maxson's five firsts counted only 5 points each, in a 5-3-1 scoring system. Under the new system introduced in 1946, first places count 10, with a 10-8-6-4-2-1 system for all but the relays, which score 16-10-6-4-2-1. Most half and quarter points come from participation in relays, where the points earned by a team are divided among the four runners.)

PARTICIPATION

Prior to 1911, the track and field meet, which later became the University Interscholastic League State Meet, was an invitational track meet, dating from 1905 and sponsored by The University of Texas.

In 1911, the Interscholastic Athletic League was organized, membership at first involving only schools closer to Austin or those with sufficient funds to make the trip. The founders were not afraid to think in big terms: They planned a state-wide League, with the meet to climax the year and to determine a state-wide track champion.

By the following spring, the League had made a little progress, the schools represented rising from 11 to 17 and the number of boys increasing slightly, from 90 to 110. In this year (1912), the step was taken which insured the development of the League into a truly statewide organization.

Admission was charged to the meet, and the Austin merchants were solicited for contributions toward expenses of awards and operation. Enough money was taken in to give the meet a balance in the black. Dr. Charles Ramsdell, professor of history, and for years a member of the University Athletic Council and the man chiefly responsible in 1911 for changing the invitational meet into a League meet, had a new idea. He arranged for dividing the profits from the 1912 meet among the competing schools on the basis of mileage to the meet. Each school was refunded approximately 50% of its traveling expenses. The word got around and, the following year, participation more than doubled.

This conception of rebate has been a key element in developing the University Interscholastic League. It was especially important during the early years, when schools had little or no money to spend on athletics.

Total participation has varied from year to year, because of war, depression, and changes in rules covering the number permitted to compete. Rudimentary control of entrants was introduced as early as 1913. Earlier, any team could bring any number of boys, regardless of the excellence of the individual athletes. By 1914, rebate was offered only to the boys who qualified by being high-point men and winners in county and district track meets. Other could take part in the State Meet if they wished but without privileges of rebate. In 1915, the rule limited competition to a maximum of eight men from any League member school. Changes continued and eventually the present system evolved, whereby contestants qualify at district, through regional, and finally to state competition. Regional competition serves to reduce the number of contestants at State Meet. Also, the number of contestants permitted to enter any event at district is now limited. These two devices have made the League track and field meets models of efficiency.

The third device affecting participation is division of schools into conferences. For a time, there were only two divisions; later, a third was added; in 1948, four conferences appeared, together with a separate "city conference." Finally, the five conferences were set up—namely, AAAA, AAA, AA, A and B.

With rebates, the schools in the Panhandle or in far West Texas could come to Austin with little more expense than the team from Georgetown, Smithville or San Antonio. The rebate made it possible for small schools to compete on fairly equal terms, financially, with the large schools. The rebate principle cancelled out the miles of Texas and made possible a truly state-wide State Meet. In fact, the rebate was continued until the early '60s.

The leaders of the League realized that even a State Meet would not attract crowds large enough to provide sufficient rebate money to do much good. Hence, the charging of membership dues began. When the Interscholastic Athletic League and the Debating League of Texas were combined in the spring of 1913 to form the University Interscholastic League, the State Meet was on firm ground: The organization was available, with its basic principles, and the all-important practice of rebate had been laid down the previous year. During early years, rebates sometimes exceeded membership fees: For instance, in 1949-50, the rebate was $7900, and membership fees only $7500. Fortunately, over the years the League developed other sources of income,—chiefly 7½% of the gate receipts of bi-district and above playoff games in football.

The growth and fluctuation of participation in the State Meet track and field events can be seen from the following table. The number of schools is taken from the annual meet program and the number of boys from the numbers officially assigned to boys competing in the meet:

TENNIS

The University Interscholastic League had its origin in two leagues: The Debating and Declamation League of Texas, and The Interscholastic Athletic League. Both were first proposed in the winter of 1910, and were completely organized by vote of schoolmen participating in meets held at the University of Texas in the spring of 1911.

By the fall of 1912, it was obvious to the leaders of each organization that a joint State Meet and a single, unified organization would be wise. The two leagues therefore combined by vote of member schools attending the concurrent State Meets of each in May, 1913. The present name, University Interscholastic League, was adopted and the organization began sponsorship of a number of interscholastic contests. Only three of these were at first carried through to a state championship: track and field, debate, and declamation.

The League very quickly began to sponsor on a local or county basis other academic and athletic events, steadily widening its scope as members expressed the need for over-all supervision of the elements involved in inter-school competition. This development led, in time, to addition of other events to the list of those in which state championships were determined. The first new event to be added was tennis.

Boys' doubles led the way, hitting the State Meet level in 1914. Five years later, boys' singles were sponsored through to a championship for the first time. The following year, in 1920, both girls' singles and doubles championships were determined at the State Meet for the first time.

From the very beginning of tennis in League activities, the driving force and inspiration was Dr. Daniel A. Penick, tennis coach of the University of Texas for more than 50 years. Dr. Penick was Director of Tennis for the League at its introduction as a League-sponsored sport, and served the League in other capacities.

Dr. Penick was firmly convinced Texas could lead the nation in tennis because of the long months when weather permits the game to be played. All that was needed, Dr. Penick believed, was that Texas schools and communities take perhaps half the interest that California takes in developing the sport. He pointed out that few schools expect a boy to furnish his own equipment for football, baseball, and basketball, and yet almost none assist in any way the boy or girl who plays tennis for the school.

Only the first two places in each division are listed. There are a few blank spots in the records. If you can help us fill them in, your help will be most welcome.

GOLF

Another of the League's "baby" sports, golf, started as a state meet activity in 1949. Even then, it was only on a City Conference basis.

Finally, Class AA was added in 1950; then, in 1951, the City Conference came to an end and the meet developed in to a three-way division, including Classes AA, A, and B. This system is in use at the present.

Included in this section are first-place winners only, both in singles and team divisions. Total individual and team scores also are included. League records are not sufficiently complete to allow individual scores of the winning team to be included.

BASEBALL

As a League sport, baseball had its beginning in a small way in 1947. More for information than anything else, forms were mailed out. However, the sport was not even recognized in the Constitution and Rules.

The first real baseball year was 1948, when all play stopped at the district level. However, beginning in 1949, Conference AA teams played to a state championship by means of a tournament among the eight bi-district winners.

Beginning in 1957, conferences AAAA and AAA played to a state championship. D'Hanis†

District winners in each conference, each year; state tournament results; and individual tournament accomplishments are listed.

No statistics are available concerning individual performances before the state tournament level is reached. While it is an unfortunate lack, mechanics for handling statistics on an individual school level are simply not available.

(*Each district certified two teams for the City Conference tournament in 1949 and 1950. The teams certified were, in each case, the district winner and runner-up. UIL records are incomplete here, and do not show which team was the winner, which finished second.)

NOTE: The San Antonio district did not compete.

BASEBALL STATE TOURNAMENT RECORDS

Batting

CONFERENCE AAAA

(Note: during the first eight years of the tournament, only Conference AAAA played to a state championship. Records were kept on a three-game basis. With two conferences being represented in the tournament since 1957, each team plays only twice. Thus present records are compiled on a minimum of five at-bats in such a two-game series.)
